WITH NAPOLEON

At Waterloo Was This Chicagoan, Who Died Recently.

When Napoleon Bonaparte rode to Waterloo one of his liveliest drummer boys was Joseph Hebert, who died Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. Chesser, 620 West Congress street. Mr. Hebert was born in Three Rivers, Quebec, in 1799, and when sixteen years of age he went with a number of Frenchmen who had enlisted to fight under the "Little Corporal." Thus he witnessed Napoleon's crushing defeat by the allied armies.

Hebert then returned to Canada, and lived there at his old home for a number of years. Eighteen years ago he came to Chicago. He enjoyed the best of health until a short time before his death. Mr. Hebert was the father of ten children, four of whom are still living—Chicago Record.

The Best Plaster.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on to the affected part is superior to any plaster. When troubled with a pain in the chest, or side, or a lame back, give it a trial. You are certain to be more than pleased with prompt relief which it affords. Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. For sale by A. R. Fisher, Cloverport; R. A. Shellman, Stephensonport.

Dog Dressmakers.

In Paris a peculiar fad on the part of rich women has given rise to the curious profession of "dog dressmakers." Members of this profession supply every sort of covering a lady wants for her pampered pet.

The sooner a cough or cold is cured without harm to the sufferer the better. Lingered colds are dangerous. Hacking cough is distressing. One Minute Cough Cure quickly cures it. Why suffer when such a cough cure is within reach? It is pleasant to taste.—Short & Haynes.

A QUEER CHARACTER

Provides Against Being Buried in the Ground.

Reuben J. Smith, seventy years old and eccentric, has built for himself in the town cemetery of Amesbury, Mass., a tomb, as he always has had a dream of being buried in the ground. The foundation of the tomb is brick. On this is an arched house-like brick tomb, laid in cement, the walls of which are a foot thick. The brick structure is encased in marble three inches thick. The marble panels are set into corner pilasters. There are several five-inch pilasters at each side, set into the brick, so that it is impossible to pull the marble from the brickwork without taking the brickwork with it. The joints are laid in plaster of paris and cement. At the front swings an inch-thick steel door. The sarcophagus is ten feet long, six feet wide and seven feet high to pitch of roof.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has saved many a life. It can always be relied on to cure the dangerous cough and whooping-cough. It gives immediate relief and should be kept in every home. It only costs 25c a bottle.

Royal Yachtsmen.

The German Emperor and the Prince of Wales are enthusiastic yachtsmen, and their cutters are among the fastest in Europe. The King of the Belgians enjoys sea life, and takes long summer cruises in his steam yacht. The Czar shares the same taste. The King of Sweden is rarely off his yacht during the summer.

AN ANGRY WILDCAT

Is Subdued by a Handful of Red Pepper.

This Hot Condiment Gives Victory Over the Beast.

"Speaking of wildcats," said a sportsman, "let me tell you of an encounter I had last fall with one of those treacherous beasts. I had been out shooting along the banks of the Machias River in Maine, and late in the afternoon, when I was returning to my home in Whitteville, it came on to rain so heavily that I was glad of the shelter a deserted lumberman's hut afforded. Being tired, I soon fell fast asleep. Three or four hours later I was aroused by a growl from Grouse, my dog, and on opening my eyes, I saw at the entrance to the hut two of those much-talked-of "balls of fire" into which wild animals' eyes are transformed at night. My dog was game, and without giving it a moment's hesitation, I saw that it was no match for its wiry antagonist, and as soon as it could the dog broke away and ran out of the hut, bleeding, torn, and weeping with pain.

"Then, the wildcat's blood being up, it came in to have a tussle with me. I felt for my gun, but it had unfortunately been knocked out of reach during the fight between the two animals, and the only weapon of defence I had was a large jack-knife. This I quickly opened, and as the wildcat came near me I dodged it, and plunged the knife well into its shoulder. The cut made the beast furious, and it sprang for me with such violence that I lost my footing and fell. I, however, succeeded in throwing the wildcat from me, but not until it had bitten my hand badly. The pain made me drop the knife, and on regaining my feet, I put my injured hand in my coat pocket, and the first thing I felt was a box of red pepper, which I had brought as a seasoning for my lunch.

"This gave me an idea, and opening the box I poured some of the pepper into my hand, and just as the wildcat was coming toward me again I dashed the hot stuff into its eyes. Its howls of pain and rage showed that the pepper had reached the desired spot, and I took advantage of this to rush out of the hut.

"At the door I found my gun, and then locating the beast by the noise it made I fired. Everything became still. After a little while I went into the hut and struck a match. I was so scared at the size of the dead animal, which weighed fifty pounds, and was three feet eight inches long, that I put for home and never thought of the big bag of game I had left behind until I reached Whitteville."—New York Sun.

Remarkable Gold Beetles.

The most remarkable gold beetles in the world are found in Central America. The head and wing covers are brilliantly polished with a luster as of gold itself. To sight and touch they have all the seeming of metal. Oddly enough, another species from the same region has the appearance of being wrought in solid silver, freshly burnished. These gold and silver beetles have a market value. They are worth from $25 to $50.

Marvels of a Graphophone.

A NEW SCHEME.

Government Will Introduce Travelling Postoffices.

They Will Be Tried in the Rural Districts.

The Postoffice Department decided to make a new experiment in the rural free delivery system, which is, in effect, the establishment of a traveling postoffice. Some time ago a resident of Westminster, Md., wrote to the department offering to build such a postoffice, to be drawn by two horses, and to establish a system between Westminster and the surrounding villages, covering a distance of thirty miles, for $1,375 a year. The plan was accepted.

The wagon will be similar to the post-office wagons in use in the cities. The postman will start from Westminster in the morning and visit a number of small towns in the vicinity, collecting and delivering mail en route. Any farmer living within two miles of the road along which the wagon passes will be allowed to place a letter box at the roadside, in which his mail can be deposited by the carrier, and from which the carrier will take the outgoing mail. At several small places where there is no postoffice a number of boxes will be put up, which will practically form an automatic post-office.

The inventor of the scheme will act as Postmaster, and will sell stamps, money orders, etc., stamp letters and assort them for the mails. While driving out in the morning he will assort the mail for delivery, and when returning he will prepare it to be placed on the train. He expects to barely make expenses, but the Government will pay him a royalty on all similar wagons should the scheme be put in general operation. It is believed that by this method much more work can be done than by a single carrier.

Constipation prevents the body from ridding itself of waste matter. Dr. Witt's Little Early Risers will remove the trouble and cure Sick Headache, Biliousness, Inactive Liver, and clear the Complexion. Small, sugar coated, don't gripe or cause nausea.—Short & Haynes.

France's Smallest Soldier.

The smallest soldier in France is Louis Bernadot, of Lure, who is only 2 feet 4 inches in height. He is a dwarf with a slight mustache. When he presented himself to draw his number out of the conscription urn it was discovered that his head did not reach to the top of the table on which the urn was placed, so a gardener held him up by the collar to enable him to put his hand in the urn.
